

Michael Brown's Mother, Lesley McSpadden

Mothers' Vigil In Remembrance, Michael Brown

A vigil to remember, to mourn, and to honor the worth and dignity of every child:

Mothers mourn when their children are murdered. Mothers mourn when other mother's children are murdered. Black mothers in America mourn for the safety, that their black boys never receive. This vigil invites all present, regardless of their identity, (mother's, fathers, parent's, children, adults...) to remember, to mourn, and to honor the worth and dignity of every child.

When: Friday, August 22nd

Where: Unitarian Universalist Congregation of Sterling, 22135 Davis Drive, Suite 105

Time: 7pm-9pm

Other: Individuals from all faith perspectives (including no faith) are welcome and will be respected. Individuals self identified as mothers will be invited to speak. All individuals are invited to gather and participate.